

Fun at the Fair

by Sharalee Flesche

Fun at the Fair was had by all on Sunday June 10th! The 52nd Annual Residents of Beverly Glen Fair was a success thanks to countless volunteers and organizers.

Gillian Calof headed the "Playgroup" division with amazing precision. The annual children's parade, led by trombone player Joe Kohansky, brought smiles to faces young and, well, not so young. Playgroup's contribution of manpower and teamwork brought the children a petting zoo, a cake walk, face painting and many exciting games and prizes. Jadon Gershon, our local DJ, kept Beverly Glen Place alive with hip hop at his hip DJ booth on Barbara Rapoport's driveway.

The lineup of vendors and artists was diverse, from painting and sculpting to pottery and children's clothing. We had olive oil and tea tastings followed up by a massage or a purchase of homemade dog food for your special four-legged pet. Shaved Ice proved a big hit, especially on the beautiful, warm, sunny afternoon on Beverly Glen Place.

Chris Holabird, our Fair founder and the true rock star of the Glen, organized our entertainment. The lineup was magnificent with our favorite Flatland Band and local talents: the brilliant Lefteous Sisters with Joe Kohansky, Barrie Berg's "Imaginary Friend" and Dan Orsborn being "Still Crazy". Dee Dozier sang the special Glen song she wrote (see p.7) while Sara Dean strummed a medley. Brandy, the belly dancer had young and old moving their hips. And Wade Novin once again provided the audio system that made it all sound so great.

The food, the food, the food; our local vendors were very, very generous, and I can't give enough thanks to the Glen Market at Crater, Fabrocinis, so keep on supporting them; they are generous and fabulous. We are also very grateful to our Glen resident chefs that brought us fabulous items to savor, from chili to gazpacho to pasta and oh yes, the desserts. Yummy!

A special treat this year, not easy to get, was Richard Renaldo of Beverly Glen Realty, who manned the wine booth with his successor Steven Foonberg, for what we hope is not the last time. The Residents of Beverly Glen presented Richard with a lovely engraved wine decanter in honor of his years not

by Sharalee Flesche

Hidden treasures in the Glen were discovered on our Annual Glen Garden Walk that was held on Sunday April 21st.

We began our day sampling savory tea sandwiches and other tasty snacks at the LDRCC. Glen resident Gloria surprised us with delicious sweet and sour chicken from her kitchen.

Heidi Santschi a long time Glen resident and local landscape artist graced us with her presence and extensive knowledge of all things green and Glen. Heidi and John Churchman started the Glen Walk originally in the 70's and it was truly an added bonus to be guided by such an expert.

Once we were satiated we began the excursion...first off we visited the lovely and very Glenish home of Jan Riggs on Viretta Lane. Jan refers to her home as, "a funny little tree house," and we found it to be just lovely. Jan, a retired physical education teacher continues to stay fit climbing the stairs that lead up to her home and attending to her rose bushes.

Marydee and Chris Dolan opened the doors to their magnificent contemporary architectural on Scenario Lane. The bomb shelter that has been converted to a wine cellar offers the Dolans the fun to be wine makers. Chris explained his Syrah winemaking process to us. Chris gives Marydee the credit for the magnificent garden and the many indigenous plants that were a delight to explore.

Todd and Jama Clark graciously opened up the Conservancy House on Beverly Glen Place again this year and we enjoyed the many flowers and trees that were waiting to be discovered behind the very unassuming gate.

A small group of us made it to David May's three acre compound on Perdido Lane and had the experience of a lifetime climbing to the top of his property and observing the Stone Canyon Reservoir. David's 20 year labor of love includes over 250 trees many of them fruit bearing. It was fascinating to learn what it took to make this compound over time and what it takes to maintain it daily.

I would like to offer a huge thank you to all of our friends and neighbors of the Glen community that spent the afternoon exploring our canyon. Every property in the Glen is special and has a story to tell. Perhaps you will offer yours to be showcased next year; let me know.

Letter from the President

Greetings Glen Neighbors!

We are shoulder high in summer and most of our children and grandchildren are already back in school. We are in fire danger season and DWP has replaced a lot of water meters with ones that show higher usage than previous years... even with no increase in water usage. Prices of everything soar in our lives; the stress can be daunting. YET, we all have the blessing to drive home after our day/night of work and live in The Glen! This Urban Forest is wonderful! How many Mule Deer have you counted in your yards/hillsides this summer? (We had a doe and 2 fawns.) Do you hear the owl at night? See the moon and stars so bright?

Living in the Glen is wonderful; yet it has its challenges. The Board and Committee leaders serve you very well, standing up for your rights as residents here. Each time there is a challenge or catastrophe, they jump in and are your voice to the governing body that needs to hear us. (Remember the water main break that took out our N. Beverly Glen earlier in the year?) I want to personally invite you to our Residents of Beverly Glen Annual Meeting. It will be held at the Les & Dorothy River Community Center on Scenario Lane, October 14, 2012. Come join us and meet your representatives in person! Do you want to get involved? Network? Make new friends and meet your neighbors? Get your questions answered? This is the best event for accomplishing this! We all look forward to meeting you. We will also vote on the next year's Board; so come out! Let your voice be heard.

Watch for the children, watch for the walkers, runners and bike riders and ENJOY the Glen slowly!

Sincerely,

Tensie Palmer

BEL AIR BEVERLY CREST NEIGHBORHOOD COUNCIL

By Ramin Kolahi

FEBRUARY, MARCH AND APRIL MEETING REPORTS

REDISTRICTING

So its official, City of LA has finalized its new district maps, won't change anything for us in the Glen but just one canyon over, our friends at Benedict Canyon are now part of Council District 4. They and us are still part of Bel Air Beverly Crest Neighborhood Council.

PLANNING CODE COMPLIANCE

Councilman Koretz is proposing a new Code Compliance Unit in the Planning Department to help cite violations of Planning conditions. Currently when an applicant gets approval for a development or restaurant, there are generally associated conditions of approval (hours of operation, traffic considerations) that are done as part of the Planning approval. Unfortunately LA Building and Safety is in charge of enforcing those associated conditions, and given their focus on building issues, the task of monitoring usually falls to residents who need to report problems. This new Code Compliance Unit, funded by development fees, would go after violations of those conditions. Currently the request is for a pilot program, and it's just a funding request; no details of the Unit yet, but we'll keep you posted. For RoBG, it would be great to put teeth behind those conditions that residents work so hard to get into approvals, while at the same time, being concerned about extra burden on homeowners who are responsible for yet another oversight. We'll keep you all posted.

WEST LA ZONING ADMINISTRATION VENUE CHANGE

As part of efforts to cut the budget, the Mayor proposed moving the Zoning Administration Hearings for West LA to downtown LA (they are currently at West LA Civic Center at Santa Monica & Corinth). BABCNC opposed this as it would make it very difficult for residents and stakeholders to attend meetings.

10580 SELKIRK

RoBG brought a request from an applicant to BABCNC. The request included a 8' retaining wall in rear yard setback, 6 retaining walls instead of two and exemption from prohibition on building on streets less than 20'. RoBG worked with neighbors who had no immediate opposition to the first two requests, but both neighbors and RoBG opposed any building on roads less than 20'. Since the short section that is less than 20' has the easements and was previously approved by the City for widening, RoBG felt that this requirement was not an extra burden on the applicant. BABCNC Planning and Land Use opposed all requests by the applicant.

UPPER STONE CANYON

DWP has finally decided, there will be a floating cover on Upper Stone Canyon with no public access.

UCLA SALE OF JAPANESE GARDENS

UCLA is trying to sell the UCLA Hannah Carter Japanese Garden (at 10619 Bellagio Rd), a gift from Edward Carter (former Board of Regents) named in honor of his wife. This is a controversial sale since donation of the garden was made with the condition that UCLA maintain it in perpetuity, and UCLA has put no conditions on the sale of the garden (e.g. the buyer could demolish the garden and replace it with a single-family home). On August 1, Superior Court Judge Lisa Cole placed an injunction on the sale of this historic garden. If interested in learning more or finding out what you can do to help, visit LA Conservancy Advocacy Issues at http://www.laconservancy.org/issues/issues_uclagarden.php.

PLASTIC BAG BAN

In support of a motion from our Councilman Koretz, BABCNC approved a motion to support banning plastic bags in Los Angeles, much as Santa Monica has done. So get your reusable bags!

Tower Grove Project – Benedict Canyon Association and BABCNC have been working to oppose the exemption from the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), requested by the applicant despite the project's size. The project is using lot line adjustments to bypass ordinary review, which is not acceptable. As of the date of this article, a recent Los Angeles Superior Court ruling stated that the City cannot require a project to abide by these rules, Car Burglaries – There has been a recent uptick in car burglaries; don't keep your stuff in plain view and lock your doors!

Ad-Hoc Committee – In response to complaints about how BABCN operates, an ad-hoc committee was created to review the issues. BABCN is an important resource for RoBG to give us a bigger voice.

Fracking – BABCN passed a motion supporting Councilman Koretz's motion to the City Council to place a moratorium on fracking while its impacts are being reviewed.

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS

by Dan Palmer

Earthquake Swarm?

Have you ever heard the term before August, 2012? I have not. I am happy that the "experts" say that this is not a precursor to the "Big One" earthquake, but you know, it really does remind us to review our personal readiness. We have been told by LAFD and LAPD that we need 1 gallon of water per person and animal, per day as well as food and medications for not 3 days, but 10-14 DAYS! When I look at our personal supplies, I realize that we have dipped into the emergency supply stash. Time to restock; time to check expiration dates and rotate. Do you need information to get you started or give you new ideas? Check out the Red Cross at <http://preparesocal.org/>; also the Los Angeles Fire Dept. at <http://lafd.org/>. If you are interested in really training for your family and/or community, check out the CERT training at <http://lafd.org/lafd-cert>. We need 20 people to have a class at the LDRCC. Send me an email or sign up at the Annual Meeting. emergency@beverlyglen.org if you are interested. I look forward to seeing you at the Annual Meeting!

HILLSIDE FEDERATION UPDATE

By Gillian Calof

The Hillside Federation celebrates its 60th Anniversary this year and the organization marked the occasion with a celebration at TreePeople. The following were honored for their contributions to hillside communities: Architect and author Alan Hess, Architect Eric Lloyd Wright, Landscape Architect Melinda Taylor, Actor Kent McCord, LAPD Captain Bea Girmala. Residents of Beverly Glen, Inc attended the event and prepared a slideshow showcasing the Hillside Federation's member associations.

The Federation continues to be involved in helicopter noise issues across hillside areas in Los Angeles. Concerns range from helicopters flying too low and hovering in one place for too long. Congressman Berman held a public meeting to discuss the issue on August 6th and over 450 people attended.

TRAFFIC

By Evelyn Alexander

If you think traffic is bad on Beverly Glen, we need you to help do something about it.

Councilman Paul Koretz needs to hear from us. Call his office at 818-971-3088 and tell them that Beverly Glen is unsafe for our families due to speeding and oversized truck traffic.

The LAPD needs to hear from us. Call the West LA Traffic Division at 213-473-2222 and ask for Sgt. Kunz. Tell him that Beverly Glen is unsafe for our families due to speeding and oversized truck traffic, and that we need additional enforcement for both speeding and commercial vehicles.

The goal of the traffic committee is to promote the safety of those of us who live here.

We hope that residents will drive the speed limit (30 mph) through Beverly Glen, setting a good example for our commuting visitors. We will only get additional LAPD enforcement if we show our Councilman and the police that our community needs to be their priority. More calls = more enforcement. Call today, then call again tomorrow. Then call next week.

Carmageddon II Announced:

There will be a full closure of the 405 Freeway September 29 and 30.

If you are interested in getting involved in traffic issues or have any great ideas for our committee, please contact Traffic committee chair Evelyn Alexander by e-mail, traffic@beverlyglen.org.

BEVERLY GLEN PLAYGROUP

By Julie Kolahi, Membership Chair

Beverly Glen Playgroup is a parent cooperative preschool located in the heart of Beverly Glen. We occupy the Les and Dorothy River Community Center on Scenario Lane.

Beverly Glen Playgroup endorses a developmental approach to learning. We believe that children learn by doing. Our focus is on the process of education versus the end product.

We offer a morning and afternoon program. Our morning program is for our older children (must be 3 years old by September 1st of the school year), and our afternoon program is for our younger children (must be 2 years old by September 1st of the school year).

We are currently accepting applications for the 2013-14 school year. Applications must be received by December 15th. As part of the application process, families are required to take a tour of the school before December 15th. The remaining tour dates for this year are Thursdays, October 25th, November 29th and December 13th.

As a neighborhood school, we try to give priority to Glen families, but they are not guaranteed acceptance. All families must complete their applications on time, attend a tour and be able to fulfill all co-op requirements. Other admissions factors include gender balance, siblings and alumni.

For more information about Playgroup, please visit our website at beverlyglenplaygroup.org. You can also email to Admissions directly at admissions@beverlyglenplaygroup.org. We look forward to hearing from you.

Bells Toll for the Glen Skipper

Kenneth Long Stern, a long-time, very active and loved member of the Beverly Glen community, passed away on August 6, 2012. Ken, who was born on December 29, 1922 in Lockport, NY, lived in the Glen, at 1600 N. Beverly Glen Bl, for 25 years along with his wife, Sally, whom he married in 1949 and who passed away last Thanksgiving weekend. Ken moved here just a few years before retiring, in 1990, as President of Kendico, Inc. At 89 years of age, Ken was also the oldest ex-president of the Residents of Beverly Glen.

Ken was most notable for his strong sense of loyalty and devotion, both to the Community and to the Country. Upon graduating from Allegheny College in 1943, he immediately entered the US Navy where he served on board the LCI 41. This landing craft, of which Ken ultimately became Commanding Officer, landed troops again and again in the North African, Sicilian and Italian campaigns. It was also used as a decoy in the Gulf of Gaeta, just north of Naples, Italy, to draw the fire of enemy shore batteries so that the cruisers, several miles out, could spot the enemy firing and attempt to eliminate them. In 1945, it was routed to Pearl Harbor, Guam, Okinawa and finally Nagoya and Kobe-Osaka, Japan before returning to San Diego. For his service, Ken was awarded two Bronze Stars in the American, European Theater and a Pacific Theater and WWII Victory Medal. Illustrative of his devotion, Ken kept in touch with his shipmates throughout his life.

Ken's strong sense of loyalty and devotion was equally apparent in all aspects of his life in the Glen. Because of his activism and persistence, first on the Traffic Committee, then on the Membership Committee, and finally as President of RoBG, the Glen community was the beneficiary of many improvements. He was responsible for convincing (then Councilman)

Zev Yaroslavsky to have the yellow traffic signs that are present up and down Beverly Glen Bl installed. He was also instrumental in the original repaving of Beverly Glen Bl in the 1600 block, an improvement that drastically reduced the number of automobile accidents in that area. Ken was also the person who created the premium $100 Golden Oak and $50 Silver Sycamore memberships that have been so beneficial to the Residents of Beverly Glen association. And Ken continued to keep abreast of everything going on here until his final days. I shall miss the regular, complimentary telephone call after the publication of each edition of the Glenite. But a more meaningful tribute to Ken's long and effective service was the Certificate of Commendation awarded to him in 2008 by the City of Los Angeles and the Residents of Beverly Glen (see photo).

Ken is survived by his two sons, Robert and Paul, his daughter-in-law, Hui, and his grand-daughter-in-law, Sherry. Neither Ken nor his wife, Sally, wanted any formal services. Should you wish to visit them, Ken and Sally's ashes reside at Forest Lawn (in Glendale) in the Court Of Freedom, Niche #6081. In addition, his sons have created a tribute site for him at <http://www.tributes.com/show/Kenneth-Long-Stern-94249685> at which one can leave a Memory Book comment, or post a photo, which would be very much appreciated by his family.

Ken's optimistic outlook, persistence and devotion will be sorely missed by residents of the Glen.

Calling All Glen Democrats

by Elke Heitmeyer

Did you know we have a mighty little Democratic Club in the Canyon? It was originally started by Dorothy and Les River and Bob Levine, all of whom have gone on to greener pastures, but others have picked up the torch.

This November is probably the most important election of our lifetime. Nobody who cares about education, healthcare, the environment, social justice - the list goes on, should sit on the sidelines.

The Beverly Glen Democratic Club only meets during important phases - and the meetings are always inspiring, thought provoking, and accompanied by good wine and delicious Glen food.

Email GleniteNbr1@gmail.com (Tel. 818.906.7757) if you want to participate and contribute to the reelection of President Obama and more Democrats in DC.

IN THE KITCHEN WITH DIANE

by Diane LaFleur

Pickled Cucumbers

Pickled Persian cucumbers with carrots

This recipe can be made with 'pickling cucumbers' as well. I have fond memories of my mother making these each summer. My husband had the idea to add the carrots (just like his mother had when she made pickles). The carrots are a really delicious addition and look nice too!

Ingredients:

Small firm Persian cucumbers (about 7-8)

1 organic carrot (cut in narrow long lengths)

4 ½ cups filtered water (bring to a boil)

1/4 cup sea salt (no iodine)

Handful of fresh dill

2 T mustard seeds

6 cloves minced garlic

½ tsp. mixed (pink and white) whole pepper corns

½ tsp. dried oregano

1 large glass jar (1/2 gal)

Wash and cut the flower ends off of each cucumber (that is the non-stem end) Pack cucumbers into a large glass jar, leaving at least 2" of space at the top. (You may have to trim the length of cucumbers to fit.

To make the brine:

Mix together the salt and boiling water. Stir until clear. Immediately add in the mustard seeds, garlic, pepper and dried oregano. Cool to room temp.

Put the cucumbers and carrots upright into the glass jar and pour the cooled brine and herbs on top, pushing down the fresh dill between the cucumbers. Cover with a lid and let ferment. This process can take anywhere from 5 - 7 days. (I leave the jar on the kitchen counter by a window and take them out into a sunny spot outside for a few hours each day) When small bubbles begin to form on the surface of the pickles and dill, the pickles are done. Take a taste and see if they are sour enough for your palette. If so, pour off 2" of brine and add unsweetened rice vinegar to fill the jar to the top. Refrigerate and enjoy. If the pickles are not sour enough, just close back up and let them sit for another day at room temperature.

Kids' Korner

Josie Arnold has contributed an account of her adventures hiking in the Tinaja Altas.

Josie has lived in the Glen all of her life, along with her parents (Peter and Hadley) and three dogs. She wrote this story when she was 10 years old; she is now 11 (soon to be 12) and is in the 6th grade at Walter Reed Middle School. Her story is too long to be printed here in its entirety; so we have included enough of it to get you started. The whole story can be found on the Beverly Glen website (www.beverlyglen.org) in the "Kids' Korner".

TINAJA ALTAS

by Josie Arnold

I quite recently went with my dad and twelve college students on a road trip through the southwest to look at water scarcity and arid lands. One of our many stops along the way to our final destination which is Dixon, NM, is a place called the Tinaja Altas. The Tinaja Altas are natural occurring ponds in the side of a cliff in the middle of the desert. Because of this many big horn sheep live there.

In order to get to the Tinaja Altas we had to cross the Marine Corps' bombing range and in order to cross the bombing range you have to have a permit. We stopped at the Marine Corps base in Yuma, AZ. Everyone got a permit except me and my dog Levi, I did not get a permit because I am a minor which means I am under 18 and as for Levi, well, you can guess.

One of the students freaked out about going to the bombing range because the man at the place where they gave us our permits said that there are probably live bombs that have not yet exploded near where we were going. I did not worry and neither did anybody else because if there were live bombs where we were going they would not let us go there. Although I did know that there were unexploded bombs in restricted areas but there was no need to worry because that was nowhere near where we were going. The bombing range is in the middle of nowhere. We drove 25 miles down a dirt road to get to the Tinaja Altas which are 2 miles from the Mexican border. On the way 3 border patrol officers stopped us because they wanted to know who we were and if we had permits. While we were driving down the dirt road, we saw signs that said things like "DO NOT GO FURTHER, LASERS IN USE." I can only imagine how much more spooked our paranoid student got.

When we got to the campsite it was pitch black outside. Everyone was hurrying about trying to set up their tents and cots before they collapsed in total exhaustion. Once everyone had calmed down and everything was pretty much under control, the group that was making dinner called us over. Each night a different group makes dinner. There are usually about 2 to 3 people in each group. Tonight there were three people and they made chicken tacos. Even though we were in the middle of the desert the temperature had dropped significantly and it was incredibly soothing to bite into a nice warm taco.

In the morning everyone woke up early and changed into hiking clothes. We all ate breakfast in a huge hurry because we could not wait to see the Tinaja Altas. After everyone had finished at about 8:30 my dad called them over. He then told them which mountain we were climbing and I sat back and watched the faces. I watched them with their jaws dropped staring up at the huge mountain covered in only rock and in some places, it was straight up. We took a small hike up to the base of the mountain and then started our long journey upward . . . [continued at Kids' Korner, www.beverlyglen.org]

THE GLEN

Dee Dozier, lyrics

There ain't nothin' better than livin' in this old glen and I think it's taken me long enough to get here
Somewhere south of Leila Lane
Henry Miller dreamt of something to say
That in time all brilliant thoughts were clear
Take me on a relevant road
tell me stories that are still untold
gimme memories that feed my soul
Everybody needs that place
everybody needs a space
oh everybody needs a place they can call
their home
I think I'll stay....
Cottonwood was the first name of what we now call Crater Lane

where you might find a nice, neighborly poker game
Oh there's something something special in the air up here
if you only listen
Take me on a relevant road
tell me stories that are still untold
gimme memories that feed my soul
Everybody needs that place
everybody needs a space
oh everybody needs a place they can call
their home
I think I'll stay....
There ain't nothin' better than
livin' in this old glen

only as a realtor but a true friend to the canyon and the community. Steve Foonberg, Sharalee Flesche and Michelle Vannoy hope to carry on the Richard Renaldo legacy and keep the real estate moving and the prices high. Thirsty throats found a cool beer or soft drink at Diana LaFleur's bar, charmingly served by her and her crew. The helpful volunteers serving the delicious food were shaded with extra-large canopies donated by Playgroup and the Residents of Beverly Glen, and it was a great day for the grillers as well, organized by Chuck Buell to flip those burgers and hot dogs to perfection.

Our local City Councilman, Paul Koretz, greeted us adorned in a lovely green Beverly Glen T-shirt and was the bearer of good news. The severely damaged Boulevard at Corfu Lane would be repaved the following week. Yea! Our California State Assemblyman, Michael Feuer, presented Elke Heitmeyer with the State's recognition for her 30 years of dedicated community service and much to my surprise included me in this magnificent acknowledgment, presenting both of us with proclamations. I am deeply humbled and thankful to be involved in such a romantic community.

A great big "Thank You" to the Foos family for opening their magical yard for our fair over so many years. Also kudos to Lauren Foos for spending the day with Dan and Tensie Palmer, Steve, Michelle and me hauling tables and chairs and setting up for the Fair. The cleanup crew on Sunday were true warriors: Dan and Tensie Palmer (and a few children), Janine Gershon, Chuck Buell, and Hildreth Simmons. We lugged tables into the shed into the dark of night and had a blast doing it. Although - hint hint - next year a team of 10 would cut the job in half; so I'll be looking for you.

Thanks to Todd Clark for organizing security and traffic, Karen Simonson for organizing the scrip tables and important money issues, and Bob Grunauer for making sure members of ROBG were welcomed at the door. Of course, the community is so grateful for all the hours, energy and help contributed by the many other wonderful Glenites who sold scrip, staffed the food tables, cooked, helped with traffic, etc.

Finally, thank you Elke for all your help and guidance in the first year that you finally got to sit down and eat with friends at the fair (at least for a little bit...). Your assistance, kind words and encouragement helped make this another fun day at the Beverly Glen Fair.

2012 membership is now due.
